THE STORY OF LIFE.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Say, what is life? 'Tis to be born
A helpless Babe to greet the light
With a sharp wail, as if the morn
Foretold a cloudy noon and night;
To weep, to sleep, and weep again,
With sunny smiles between, and then?

And then apace the infant grows,
To be a laughing, puling boy,
Happy, despite his little woes,
Were he but conscious of his joy;
To be, in short, from two to ten,
A merry, moody Child; and then?

And then, in coat and trousers clad,
To learn to say the decalogue,
And break it; an unthinking Lad,
With mirth and mischief all agog;
A truant oft by field and fen
To capture butterflies; and then?

And then, increased in strength and size,
To be, anon, a Youth full grown;
A hero in his mother's eyes,
A young Apollo in his own;
To imitate the ways of men
In fashionable sins; and then?

And then, at last, to be a Man;
To fall in love; to woo and wed;
With seething brain to scheme and plan;
To gather gold, or toil for bread;
To sue for fame with tongue or pen,
And gain or lose the prize; and then?

And then a gray and wrinkled Eld;
To mourn the speed of life's decline;
To praise the scenes his youth beheld;
And dwell in memory of lang syne;
To dream a while with darkened ken,
Then drop into his grave: and then?

☞ The following is a copy of the speech made by Mr. Pershing, in the House of Representatives, on the bill for change of venue in the case of the Commonwealth verses Mrs. Barker, et. al.:

MR. PERSHING. As a general rule, I am opposed to bills of this kind, changing the venue of cases from one county to another, unless there is some absolute necessity for the change; but I am in favor of this bill, because I believe that the change in this case is necessary to subserve the ends of justice. Every gentleman knows that in some cases prejudices may be excited to so great an extent against particular parties, that it is almost a matter of impossibility to procure a fair trial in such particular locality. Such I am satisfied is the fact in regard to this case. Whilst I appreciate, of course, very highly the position and the feelings of the representative of Beaver county on this floor, yet I must say that I do not believe that these parties can have a fair trial in that county, under the present state of excitement.

Now, the facts are about these, (and I may state that these facts come from respectable parties in Beaver county—parties who do not participate in the feelings that prevail against the defendants in this indictment;) A man named Sheets, a desperate character, perpetrated in that county an unprovoked and most cruel murder upon a man by the name Ansley. The murderer was tried and convicted; and whilst in prison, after his conviction, he in some way made his escape. It was believed that the person who had charge of the prison was, in some manner implicated in the escape, and upon being called to account a large number of the citizens, who, as it may be imagined, were very indignant that this murderer should escape, this person confessed that he had been bribed to release the prisoner. He has, I believe, since been tried and convicted of that crime, on his own confession. Upon search being made for the murderer, he was found in a part of a building occupied by a widow lady, Mrs Barker—on the garret of the kitchen apartment, under the bed of a negro women, who was a servant in the house. Previous to the discovery of the murderer, search had been made in other localities, and finally search was made in this house, standing just on the opposite side of the street from the jail, being the nearest house to the jail.—At that time Mrs. Craft, the daughter of Mrs. Barker, was as she had been for sometime before, and as she was for some time after, in Pittsburg.—Yet the grand jury indicted Mrs. Barker, her daughter, who was absent, her two little boys, and the negro woman; and I may mention that the oldest of these boys is under fourteen years of age. Thus the whole family were indicted; and deprived of every opportunity of being heard as witnesses one for the other. The facts are verified by people as respectable as any in Beaver county. Now, when the grand jury has thus found a bill, evidently under the pressure of the excitement prevailing, can it be presumed that these parties can have a fair trial in that county?

What renders this case worse is, that this lady has been the subject of attack through a political newspaper in that county. Every effort has been made to arouse public opinion against her. She has been charged with being a political heretic—a believer in almost everything than can be imagined. Yet she is a respectable lady, and her high character is vouched for, not only by the people in Beaver county, but by people in Pittsburg, men and women of high standing.

I say that, under the state of facts, it is perfectly apparent that these parties cannot have a fair trial in that county. When [illegible] beyond question entire [illegible] made parties to the [illegible] of their testimony [illegible] view of the circumstances of the case, I believe that there is an imperative necessity that the venue should be changed. If there were no other reason, the attacks that have been made on this woman in a political newspaper would go far with [illegible] my mind that this change should be granted. [illegible] ungenerous and unfair [illegible] ought to bring a blush [illegible] the man capable of [illegible] them. So far as a certain portion of that community are concerned I have no hesitation in saying that their conduct is perfectly disgraceful.

The only question then, seems to me to be, to what county shall this case be taken? The parties do not desire such notoriety as would obtain, if the trial should take place at Pittsburg. Everybody knows that a trial of this character in the criminal court of Pittsburg would be published in every newspaper, and the names of these persons would be heralded all over the Commonwealth in connection with this criminal charge.—They seek to avoid notoriety of that kind. They, therefore, desire that this case shall be transferred to another county, where [illegible] will not be made so notorious through the public press.

I may state (although this is being a political reason, I state it with reluctance) that it is considered best that the case should not be taken to the county of Washington. The husband of this lady was, at some time, the editor of a political newspaper in that county, and I am assured by gentlemen of the highest veracity that there are still existing some old political animosity, so that there is danger that feelings of mere political revenge might influence the determination of the cause. Besides there is no railway communication to Washington county from Beaver county; the trip from the latter to the former county must necessarily be made by stage altogether, whereas there is railway communication [illegible] every inch of ground from Beaver county to Fayette county. [illegible] it is proposed that the case [illegible] be removed to Fayette county.

Although I am, as I [illegible] opposed generally to [illegible] feel that in the present [illegible] I have stated there is an imperative necessity that the change asked for should be made. I, therefore, hope that the bill will pass.

I have here a certified copy of the indictment. I have also a memorial from citizens of Beaver county, soliciting the Governor to interfere in the matter. The memorial was drawn up under the supposition that the Governor had power to interpose in behalf of these women and children. The regular time of court was opened. As paper is signed by a large number of respectable people of Beaver county.

MR. RITTER. I ask that the memorial may be read.

The Clerk read the memorial, as follows:

To his Excellency Andrew G. Curtin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

DEAR SIR:—The undersigned citizens of the county of Beaver beg leave to address you in reference to a matter in which they feel no ordinary interest.

On the 22d day of October last, Eli F. Sheets, who had been convicted of the murder of John Ansley escaped from the jail of this county and a few days afterwards was found at the house of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Barker, a highly respectable widow lady residing in Beaver. Mrs. Barker and all the other members of her family, to wit:—her two little boys, the eldest of whom is under the age of fourteen years; her daughter, Mrs. Craft, and a colored servant girl, were thereupon charged with receiving and concealing Sheets, knowing him to be a felon; and an indictment is now pending against them jointly for that offence.

The undersigned, believing, for reasons hereinafter stated, that the charge is wholly groundless, and that justice does not in this case demand the trial of the innocent, deem it their duty make an earnest appeal to your Excellency in behalf of the accused.

Mrs. Barker is the widow of the late Dr. R. B. Barker, who for many years stood at the head of his profession in this county, and was one of our most respected citizens. As a wife, a mother, a neighbor, and a Christian she has ever been faithful and exemplary in the discharge of her duties. In refinement and intelligence she has no superior in the society of the town in which she resides. Moreover, she could have had no motive to commit the offence with which she charged.

The felon Sheets was to her a stranger. She had never seen him or any member of his family. She was not connected in the remotest degree with any of them. She did not, as many other ladies did, attend his trial; and there was no reason why she should feel any interest in him or his cause.

At the time of Sheets' escape, Mrs. Craft was absent from home on a visit to friends in Pittsburg; and she did not return until near the time of his arrest. In her absence the only inmates of the house were Mrs. Barker, her two little boys, and a servant girl. We cannot believe that a lady of Mrs. Barker's timidity and delicacy of feeling would have unprotected, knowingly harbor a convicted thief and murderer. The kitchen garret in which he was found was quite easy of access from the outside of the building; and we cannot doubt that he concealed himself there without her knowledge.

The witness whose testimony will be relied upon to implicate Mrs. Barker, is the turnkey who, by his own confession, betrayed the confidence of his employer by opening the prison door to a felon, and is now awaiting sentence for that offence. It is believed that he will swear anything which he may think will tend to mitigate his own punishment, by shifting part of the responsibility on others; while the lips of the witness by whom the innocence of his intended victim might be made manifest are sealed by their being joined with her in the indictment.

In view of these facts we respectfully submit that the case is one that calls loudly for the interposition of the Executive clemency.

As the friends and associates of Dr. Barker in his lifetime, we feel impelled to join in an earnest appeal in behalf of his widow and orphaned children, who we fear may be greatly wronged by the testimony of a faithless miscreant over whose head the sword of offended justice is impending. This wrong we earnestly pray your Excellency to avert, and thereby merit the widow and orphans' lasting gratitude and confer upon their many friends a favor never to be forgotten.

A Judicial Game of "Brag."

Judge Dominick A. Hall is historically known as the judge who imposed the fine of one thousand dollars on General Jackson. Notwithstanding all that, he was neither a tyrant on the bench, nor unsocial with his fellowmen. He would drink a bottle or two of wine, just to correct the acidity of his stomach, and to prevent [illegible] proceeded to descant on the false colors perpetrated by painters.

"Now," said he, "there's Mr. Barker's painting of my meeting with Bincker on the field of Waterloo. It is all wrong. He has made it in the act of shaking with each cocked hat. That was not the way of it all. Blucher rushed up to greet La Belle Alliance, threw his arms around my neck, kissed me and covered me with [illegible] and I see that Louise has sent in a design for a fresco illustration of the event in the House of Lords; but from the description given of it in the papers, I fear it will be no nearer to the truth than Barker's."

There is a picture extant of the Duke showing the present Duchess of the Marchioness of Douro, the localities of the chief incidents at Waterloo. I remarked:

"The likeness of your Grace is good."

"Yes," he replied; "but the devil of it is that the whole picture is false. I never took the Marchioness to Belgium at all."

Seeing him in a chatty humor, I ventured to inquire if it were true that he cried out, "Up Guards and at them!" at the crisis of Waterloo. He said: "It stings to reason I couldn't be such a fool. I was a quarter of a mile away and couldn't have been heard. May be some of the staff called out to the Guards, to rise out of the corn where they were lying down. I merely said—Let the line advance."

A Fearful Struggle for Freedom.

The Frankfort (Ky.) correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette (Jan. 19th,) gives the following thrilling account of a slave mother's struggle for freedom:

"Some slave traders from Henderson, Ky., arrived at the Capitol Hotel on Saturday, from Lexington, where they had purchased several negroes among which were a woman named Harriet and her infant child. The slaves were placed in a basement room for safety, as it was known that Harriet had a strong repugnance to going away, having been separated from her husband and other children. She is a large, powerful woman, apparently about thirty years old, and possesses strong domestic instincts. About 11 o'clock, when most of the guests had retired, Harriet with her child clasped to her bosom, dashed frantically from the basement to the hall, and finding the door locked raised her clinched hand, and with powerful blows smashed the lights surrounding it, shivered two sections of two-inch sash, forced herself through the aperture, and with lacerated arm and hand, streaming with blood, fled as it for life.

"Subsequently she was found exhausted from loss of blood and almost frozen, crouched in the corner of a stable, whither she had been traced by her blood upon the snow. The door sill and wall at the Capital Hotel are saturated with this slave mother's blood, mute but eloquent appeal, and there it will remain, for not all Neptune's ocean can wash this blood clean, and senators and law-makers shall see it as they go and come from the legislative halls, another evidence of the instinctive and ineradicable love and aspirations for freedom."

The Duke of Wellington.

Soon after my arrival in London I had the supreme satisfaction of being introduced to the Duke of Wellington. A grand ball was given at Willis' Rooms—it was called "The Waverly Ball," and its leading feature consisted in the formation of several sets of quadrilles, each of which was danced by sixteen couple, costumed to represent the characters in one of Scott's novels. The crowd at the entrance to the rooms, as well as the crowd within, was immense. As I ascended the grand staircase I heard shouts from the crowd at the entrance. Turning around, I said aloud, "I wonder who they are shouting for?" The Duke of Wellington was at my elbow, and supposing I had addressed him, replied in his usual dry way: "I suppose it is either for you or me, sir!" As I saw that the Duke would have had some difficulty in making his way through the throng to the upper end of the ball-room, I was glad to escape from my confusion, and atone for my apparent rudeness by opening a path for him. When we reached the upper end he bowed to me and said, "Thank you, sir. I shall be glad to see you at Apsley House, if you are fond of pictures."

I need not say that I allowed very few days to elapse before I presented myself at the mansion, which still in its protection of iron blinds reminded the passer by that the Duke had once found it necessary to protect his windows from mob fury. The Duke received me very kindly, and at once led me to the Waterloo gallery—a long room in which he was accustomed annually to entertain the old heroes of the great fight of June 18, 1815. Many of the pictures were the work of Wildie, Jan Stein, Gainsborough, &c. There were numerous portraits of the Duke's companions in arms, and of Napoleon whose military genius he seemed delighted to honor. There was a colossal statue of Napoleon at the foot of the stairs. There was but one picture of the battle of Waterloo in the gallery, and as it represented Napoleon and his staff with the British in the remote distance almost enveloped in smoke, I ventured to ask his Grace which was the best representation of the battle he had ever seen? "All bad, sir. A battle can not be painted. It is continual motion. I close this because I could not say it was false. It is quieter than any of the others." He then proceeded to descant on the false colors perpetrated by painters.

"Now," said he, "there's Mr. Barker's painting of my meeting with Bincker on the field of Waterloo. It is all wrong. He has made us in the act of shaking with each cocked hat. That was not the way of it all. Blucher rushed up to greet La Belle Alliance, threw his arms around my neck, kissed me and covered me with [illegible] and I see that Louise has sent in a design for a fresco illustration of the event in the House of Lords; but from the description given of it in the papers, I fear it will be no nearer to the truth than Barker's."

There is a picture extant of the Duke showing the present Duchess of the Marchioness of Douro, the localities of the chief incidents at Waterloo. I remarked:

"The likeness of your Grace is good."

"Yes," he replied; "but the devil of it is that the whole picture is false. I never took the Marchioness to Belgium at all."

Seeing him in a chatty humor, I ventured to inquire if it were true that he cried out, "Up Guards and at them!" at the crisis of Waterloo. He said: "It stings to reason I couldn't be such a fool. I was a quarter of a mile away and couldn't have been heard. May be some of the staff called out to the Guards, to rise out of the corn where they were lying down. I merely said—Let the line advance."

A VETERAN.—The Thirty-seventh Iowa regiment now doing guard duty at St. Louis, is almost exclusively composed of men over forty-five. Among its number is Charles King, who is eighty-one years of age. He is six feet eight inches in hight. He was born in Culpepper county, Virginia, and claims to be a lineal descendant of Pocohontas, and this statement is verified by his physiognomy, which betrays the characteristics of the Indian. He has been twice married, (first when only nineteen years of age,) and is the father of twenty-one children, one of which was, two weeks since, only fifteen months old when it died. He claims to be able to repeat every word of the Bible, from the beginning of Genesis to the end of Revelations, and can neither read nor write! —a daughter having read the book to him, his wonderful memory enabling him to retain it after committing it to memory. The daughter commenced her reading to him at five years of age, he being then twenty-six. In 1815 he emigrated to Ohio, resided there some twenty-five years, and then removed to Wapello county, Iowa, where his home now is, and where he enlisted. Mr. King's family is somewhat celebrated for longevity, his mother having lived to the age of 108, and one grandfather to 105 years.

A Loyal Tennessee Hero.

Tinker Dave Beaty, as he is commonly called, is a citizen of Fentress county, and has made his mark. He may be called a rough, uneducated mountain man, or, in other words, a backwoodsman, who has never forsaken the flag of his country. His operations have chiefly been in Fentress and Overton counties. Rebel troops have been in these counties since Tennessee seceded, with the exception of very short periods; but Beaty is so well acquainted with every road and path, it was almost impossible to catch him. If he is seriously menaced he retires to the mountains. He sometimes has sixty men with him, and again not more than fifteen or twenty men. His men are all mounted. He has no camp, no wagons, tents or camp equipage, but stays where he can best conceal his men. At all times Beaty has out scouts and pickets; he never permits himself to be surprised. When an opportunity is presented, he pounces upon a party of soldiers or guerrillas, cutting them to pieces, capturing arms, ammunition, &c. By these attacks Beaty keeps his men supplied with equipments, and partly with provisions.

The rebels by some means obtained a large quantity of medicine at Louisville, Kentucky, and smuggled it, though the Union lines, by the way of Burksville, Kentucky. They had reached Fentress county with the medicine, and thought safely safe. But the keen eye of Beaty detected them. He seized upon their wagons and captured several thousand dollars worth of medicine. This was a very severe loss to the South, as medicine with them was very scarce.

Upon another occasion the rebels were driving South a large number of cattle they had taken from the citizens of Wayne and Clinton counties, Ky. Beaty heard of their movements, and concealing his men by the road side, at the proper moment attacked them with such fierceness that they fled in confusion, leaving their cattle and six of their companions who had been shot. Although the rebels troops have been on every side of Beaty, and a large army one hundred and fifty miles in his rear (Gen. Bragg's forces when in Kentucky) yet he remains in his favorite locality. He still continues to make safe and rapid raids upon the rebels, and has become a perfect terror to them. Beaty and his men have never been mustered into the regular service. They receive no pay, no clothes, no camp equipage, rations, nor military stores of any kind. They are no expense to the Government, yet render as valuable service as the same number of men anywhere. Neither does he impose upon Union citizens. He sustains his brave little band upon the rebels.

☞ When the worthy Bailie S. of B. died, leaving his widow comfortably provided for, Deacon M. paid great attention to the bereaved ally, ordered the coffin, directed the funeral arrangement, and finally kept close beside her as they accompanied the remains to the tomb. Just as the procession halted, he joined to her, in one of the intervals of their mutual confidence, that at a proper time he should be happy to fill the vacancy that the Bailie had so long occupied. The deacon was in season, for scarcely had the relatives and friends retired from the house before the mourner made the same proposition. "You are too late," replied the bashful widow, "the deacon spoke to me at the grave!"

A HUNDRED TONS OF GOLD.—During the past year there was received at San Francisco forty-nine millions of dollars in gold. This amount of the precious metal would make the freight of a train of fourteen cars on a railroad.

A country which produces gold in such quantities only needs the adoption of a correct financial and mercantile policy to have its currency upon a sure foundation, and in sufficient quantity for all useful purposes. Timid persons are startled at the idea of paper currency of five hundred millions of dollars; and yet two years product of the mines of our country would be a sufficient basis for a currency of that amount, which, with prudent management would be fully equal to gold for all business uses.

The great trouble in all our monetary affairs is that we have always allowed the nations of Europe to drain us of the precious metals.

POOR ENCOURAGEMENT.—The Southern rebels treat their Northern sympathisers with very little respect.—The Richmond Dispatch, says that the party of which Brooks and Van Buren are the representatives are fools are enough to believe that a majority of the people in the Confederacy are in favor of reunion, but that if the whole Yankee race (they call all Northerners Yankees) should fall down in the dust to-morrow and pray us to be their masters we would spurn them even as slaves." Here is poor encouragement for the Democrats who are anxious that the Southern slaveholders should come back and again rule them and their party. The chivalry spurn them even as slaves. A Democrat may well now inquire, "is thy servant a dog" that he should longer hold such a [illegible]

BEAVER ARGUS.

Wednesday, Feb. 11th, 1863.

D. L. IMBRIE, Editor & Proprietor.

S. M. Pentengill & Co.,

No. 37 Park Row, N. Y., & 6 State st., Boston are our Agents for the ARGUS in those cities, and are authorized to take Advertisements and Subscriptions for us at our Lowest Rates.

SALUTATORY.

The undersigned having purchased the interest of Mr. NICHOLSON in the Argus, will hereafter assume the editorial control of the paper.

On entering upon the duties of editor of the Argus, at the present time, one cannot but be aware that the responsibilities of the position have been largely increased by the state of our National affairs; yet, with a firm reliance upon the justice of our cause, it is believed that we may meet and discharge those responsibilities in a manner that may never cause us to blush in after years.

Under its new management the Argus will, as it has heretofore done, sustain, to the utmost of its power, the principles laid down by the Founders of our Government; and so long as our present Chief Magistrate shall be faithful to those principles, we shall continue to give him our unqualified support. As we were opposed to the Slaveholders' Rebellion, both in its inception and in its prosecution, we may say that we are in favor of having it put down with any and every means that God has placed in our power.—Believing that sympathy with Treason and Traitors is in nowise better, or more honorable, than Treason itself, we shall denounce it wherever found, whether in the person of a General in the army, or in the columns of a so-called Democratic newspaper.

We have never believed in the policy of treating the rebellion in a mild manner, but think it should be crushed with an iron hand. We are, as ever, opposed to disunion, and shall never consent to the formation of two governments on this soil. We believe that the rebels can be crushed, and we believe that they will be. We are, therefore, opposed to all compromises of every kind, and hold every man that advocates any and every kind of compromise with armed rebels, as an enemy to his government. We believe that those who cry out that "they are for putting down the rebellion, but that if Negroes are allowed to fight they shall not," and those who say they will fight for the Union only in case Slavery is to be upheld in Rebel States, as well as all whose loyalty is in the least conditional, are in no sense for the Union at all, and might just as well be for Jeff. Davis at once.

The above we conceive to be sufficient to indicate the position which the Argus will assume, under the management of the present editor, in regard to National affairs.

Believing that the administration of Gov. Curtin has been eminently wise and patriotic, we shall advocate the continuance of the same line of policy that has marked his administration. The Argus will, however, be rather the exponent of principles than party, and we shall always be ready to sustain and co-operate with such Democrats as Butler of Massachusetts, Dickinson of New York, Hickman of Pennsylvania, and hosts of others who are for maintaining the Union. We are convinced that party names often mean nothing, and that partizan editors are frequently led away from their real opinions by a blind zeal for success. With the Argus, the aim shall always be for the right, and what we believe to be wrong, we shall not hesitate to condemn in any party, or any set of men, whatever. With these views and opinions, the editor assumes the control of the Argus, trusting that he shall have the countenance and support of all the loyal citizens of Beaver county.

In our intercourse with our editorial brethren, we shall endeavor to maintain the same dignified and courteous demeanor that has always characterized this journal under its former proprietors. D. L. IMBRIE.

☞ We learn from a Freedom correspondent that Rev. Dr. Storer, Chaplain of the 134th Reg. Pa Vol., arrived at his home in that place, on Tuesday of last week, in good health. He reports that Co. E (Capt. Vera) is in excellent health, and as brave as they are intelligent. The Dr. brings with him about six thousand dollars for friends in the regiment. Of Captain Vera, he speaks in the highest terms as an officer and soldier; and that Beaver county may well be proud of Co. E and its officers. He returns to the regiment on the 18th or 19th.

☞ Our thanks are due Hon. John W. Wallace for valuable Public Documents. We are also under obligations to Senators Lawrence, M'Candless, Bound, Boughter, Robinson, Connell and Clymer, and Wm. Henry of the House.

Change of Venue.

We noticed last week that a Bill was before our State Legislature proposing to change the Venue in the case of the commonwealth vs. Mrs. Barker et. al., from this county to Fayette.—The Bill has since passed both Houses, and may be it has, or will be, signed by the Governor, thus making it a law. We have heretofore refrained saying anything about the guilt or innocence of these parties, notwithstanding the false assertions of interested persons to the contrary, and we will not in any way write or publish anything to prejudice the minds of the people against them. Our sympathies and feelings are all with them. It would be exceedingly gratifying to us if they should establish their innocence, and we would fain hope that they may be able to do so. Living in the same borough, and knowing the defendants for a long time, our prejudices, if we have any, are entirely in their favor. But as the Bill just passed reflects upon the county, the manner in which it was passed, so unusual for Legislative bodies, and the means employed by certain persons so unprincipled, that we deem it our duty to acquaint our readers with the facts. Here we might say that so far as the defendants were instrumental in accomplishing it, we have no complaint to make. A petition was circulated, and a few names obtained, asking the pardon of defendants before trial.—It may seem strange to some that law-abiding citizens would sign a petition asking the Governor to interfere before trial, and pardon the defendants before it is known whether they were guilty or not; before they have had an opportunity of establishing their innocence, as we sincerely desire they may be able to do, if ever tried. Allowing, however, that to be proper, we find on reading the petition, it sets forth for truth that which is entirely incorrect. Most of the petitioners we have no doubt were not aware of this, but two or three of them living in this borough must have known that they were misrepresenting the facts. For instance they say Sheets was found in a room very easy of access from the outside. Some of the petitioners living in the borough surely know that is not true. On said petition, accompanied with letters exparte, the Legislature is induced to interfere. The Bill was rushed through the Senate before it was even known here that it was in contemplation, and sent to the House, reported from the committee immediately, it was taken up and passed in the House the day it reached it. Mr. Cain, from Fayette, a strong advocate of the Bill and our member, Mr. Henry, asked a postponement to give time to enquire as to its merits, and that they might have an opportunity to amend. Although it was shown there was no need for such haste, their requests, contrary to all usage and decency, were refused. The conduct of the House is without a precedent. Poisoned by falsehood and misrepresentation, they would not wait for light and truth to reach them. The change was asked for on political grounds, partly. Who ever heard or supposed politics had anything to do with the case. The defendants are not politicians. Their politics were not known—being women. Did any one care what their politics were? Have politics anything to do with the case? How ridiculous! The man who makes use of such an argument is a mean, low politician and a dishonest man, even should his name be Cyrus Pershing. Why would one political newspaper persecute them? How absurd! Hon. Cyrus Pershing, member from Cambria county, made a lengthy speech which we publish on the outside of our paper of this week, and to which we desire to call the attention of our readers.—This Pershing is a lawyer of some reputation in his own county; we believe, studied with Judge Black (now fossilized) and happened to get to the Legislature; he makes a speech nearly every assertion of which is untrue. He says that Mrs. Craft was at Pittsburg at the time of the arrest of Sheets, had been for some time before, and remained there for some time after. That is untrue. He says that there is a great excitement and prejudice in Beaver county against the defendants. That is equally false.—There was no excitement or prejudice against the parties whatever. We but speak truth when we say that instead of a feeling against them here, there was a strong feeling in their favor. It would have required stronger evidence to have convicted them here than ever was required in the case of any other criminals. He asserts again that the Grand Jury found bills of indictment against the boys, without evidence, to prevent their becoming witnesses. That attacks the honesty and integrity of twenty or more of our best citizens, and for them we pronounce the charge utterly false and without shadow of foundation, in truth. Again, he says they could not have a fair trial here. That attacks the Court, the Bar, the Jury and the People, and is equally untrue. He again says "that this lady has been the subject of attack through a political news paper in Beaver county," and that every effort has been made to arouse public opinion against her. In this the Hon. (?) Cyrus Pershing either ignorantly or wilfully, stated a palpable falsehood. Any opinion given by any newspaper in this country was in their favor. All spoke of their high respectability, of their intelligence and good standing in society.—Then, how could this gentleman from Cambria make such a declaration on the floor of the House of Representatives? "The ungenerous and unmanly attacks" made on the floor of the House, "ought to bring a blush to the cheek of the man capable of perpetrating them." He also says that there is no Rail Road communication between Beaver and Washington. In this he is mistaken. Now this man says he got his information (rather mis-information) from correspondents in Beaver. Who can this correspondent be that attacks the Grand Jury, District Attorney, Court, Bar, Petit Jury and people generally, charging them with falsehood corruption and tyranny? With whom is he acquainted here and with whom does he correspond? Many of our readers, we presume, know. It was upon such false assertions the Bill was passed—an outrage and disgrace upon Beaver county. This outrage and disgrace was perpetrated by citizens of Beaver county, and such tools as Pershing Cain, Hopkins, Ludlow and others engaged to perfect it. Will the people of Beaver county forget it?

☞ The editor of the Star is very indignant, and spreads himself wonderfully, about the arrest of Boileau, of the Philadelphia Evening Journal, for writing and publishing treason. In this case Mr. Boileau's friends are much more exercised than he is himself. In fact, he admits in his retraction to Gen. Schenck, which the Star, designedly, we presume, omits to mention, that the arrest was just. Why, then, does the editor of the Star get into such a terrible rage? Is he more interested, or a better judge of treason, right and wrong, than the principal himself—Mr. Boileau? In his article the editor of the Star uses this remarkable language: "We have read the article in question, that is the one upon the arrest was made, and "while we cannot approve or endorse it, we do not think it amounts even to probable cause' for arrest." If there is any one doubted before the legality of the arrest they need do so no more. The editor of the Star can't endorse Mr. Boileau's article! Is not that evidence enough to convict any man? We are surprised, and gratified likewise, to learn that our neighbor could not go quite so far as some others of his party. There is really a length, then, that he won't go against the government. It is really encouraging. We must beg leave to change our opinion of him, slightly. Mr. Boileau, after his release, says in his editorial, that his retraction was voluntary, that he is a Union Democrat, and no such articles as the one in question can ever again find a place in his paper. We see since the retraction, and avowal of union sentiments, Mr Boileau's friends in the Legislature, who were so much outraged at his arrest, are now equally indignant at him, and many of them refuse to take his paper longer. He avowed himself a union man, and they again forsake him. We expect the Star will notify its readers next week of his conversion to Republicanism. When a man once declares himself loyal, intercourse with Democracy ceases.

The editor of the Star is mistaken when he says the Legislature passed resolutions condemning the arrest.—They passed no such resolutions.—Again, he states the Court ordered the District Attorney to prepare bills of indictment against Gen. Schenck and others. Judge Ludlow made that order, but he was only one of three, and the other two made a different order.

☞ The editor of the Star is greatly exercised about arming the negroes. It is a fearful thing, hain't it, Brother Long? Niggers were not made to be killed. It is much better to make the white soldiers do all the fighting—do all the the work and undergo all the hardships. They are just made for it and we are not going to allow any others to interfere. What if the negroes could save the lives of fifty thousand white soldiers, it would not be right to allow them to do it. A nigger shan't save the life of a white man, no how. We suppose Mr. Long, if he was drowning, would drown rather than let a nigger rescue him—So you would. Mr. Editor there is nothing like asserting your rights, and showing your superiority over others.

BOARD OF REVENUE COMMISSIONERS.—The members of the Board of Revenue Commissioners for the year 1863 are hereby notified to meet in the City of Harrisburg, on Tuesday, the 17th day of February, inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M. H. D. MOORE, State Treasurer.

Hon. Geo. V. Lawrence.

This gentleman was elected Speaker of the Pennsylvania Senate at the close of it last Session, and upon the reassembling he was re-elected. This is an honorable and responsible position, and he possesses rare qualifications which fit him for the performance of the duties of a Speaker and a Legislator. On a visit recently to the State Capitol we observed that the Speaker was perfectly at home whilst sitting in the Chair, and in our intercourse with the members of the Senate, we found that Mr. Lawrence was admired as a Speaker by all, both Republicans and Democrats. He is thoroughly versed in parliamentary rules, sagacious and unassuming, possessing the respect and confidence of all the members of the body over which he presides. He is now serving for the tenth session as a legislator. The people whom he has so long and faithfully represented, most truly appreciate his services. We have known him intimately for years, and can bear testimony, free from all bias, when we say that he is honest as a representative, affable and courteous as a gentleman, and warm-hearted as a friend; and he only represents the peculiarities of fitness which appears to have been inherent in the Lawrence family whilst presiding in the Senate as its Speaker. That body could not have made a better selection for the position. He is still a rising man. We congratulate our old friends and associates of the Senate in their choice of one so eminently qualified to preside over their deliberations.

☞ We commenced in our last paper, and continue in this, the publication of the Receipts and Expenditures of Beaver County. The statements are worthy the close attention our of our readers. The labor of the Commmissioners and Treasurer, during the past year, has been very arduous. In addition to their ordinary duties the payment of Bounty and disbursing the Relief fund, added almost one-half more. The Commissioners discharged their duties with credit to themselves and to the satisfaction of the citizens of the county. Mr. Bradshaw, our excellent Treasurer, has displayed great energy and capacity in the performance of his duty. He left nothing undone, no duty unperformed that was required of him, and we feel assured the interests of the people in his department are safe in his hands. We were also fortunate in having a good Board of Auditors. They labored faithfully and notwithstanding as we stated above, the increased labor they closed this work in about the usual time. The people of Beaver county have been very fortunate in the selection of officers generally. A good recommendation for the party from whom they were taken.

Harrisburg Correspondence.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6, 1863.

MR. EDITOR:—The doings of the Legislature the present week may be briefly told. A man named Boileau, an editor of a paper in Philadelphia, was arrested for his treasonable teachings. So soon as his brethern in feeling, in the House, heard of his arrest, there was quite a flutter among the Kanes, Ludlows, Boyers, &c., &c., a resolution must be offered, of course. It is not sufficient, it would seem, that such chaps should sympathise with Jeff. Davis, but they must embrace every opportunity to show it. They are making history—a history their children will blush to read. A strange fatality attends almost all the doings of these men. After wasting a great deal of gas on the subject of Boileau, he comes down and recants and promises to behave well in the future.—Judge Ludlow, of Philadelphia, has burnt his dirty fingers also. When he heard of Boileau's arrest, he commanded the Grand Jury to lay aside all other business and take up the case of Boileau. There is law for you.—You may have seen the response of the Grand Jury in the case; also the withering rebuke of a majority of the Court.

The supreme court has been doing a dirty retail business in Philadelphia lately, having virtually decided that a minority is a majority. Who dare say after this that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is not good, great and impartial in political questions.

Gen. Heintzelman in a late report of the battle of "Seven Pines," says "the 101st Pa. fought well." As this regiment was commanded, originally by a citizen of your county, and some three hundred of your cititizens were in it, I feel confident this tardy acknowledgment of their good conduct will be gratifying to many of your readers. The history of that regiment has not yet been written. If my life is spared to the proper time, it will be written. The materials are ready even now, in part. But enough of this.

The Legislature adjourned to-day, to meet Monday night, at 7½ o'clock.

A. B. C.

☞ If a man during fifty years chews every day two inches of solid plug tobacco (and millions do it) it amount at the end of that time to 9360 feet, or a mile and a quarter of solid tobacco, half an inch thick and two inches broad, and will cost $1,500. What filth and folly!

Obituary.

Died at Hammond General Hospital, Point Lookout, Md., on the 2d of Jan. 1863, George W. Hays, of Fallston, Beaver County, aged 28 years.

Another flower is plucked from our happy home; another jewel stolen from our treasure of love; one happy household band has again been broken. A few short months, with its clouds and sunshine, has passed away; and what a change. One who stood by our side, rich in youth and beauty, has left us to return no more; one with a soul as pure as the flowers that lay upon his coffin lid, and a heart well stored with treasures of holy thoughts and kind impulses—far too pure and good to bear the wars and sorrows of earth. The angels came for George and bore him to a more genial clime, where now he "dwells on the hills of myrrh". His simplicity of soul and his unselfish heart won for him the involuntary esteem and admiration of friends and acquaintances, over whose hearts his sudden death has cast a pall of deepest gloom. A found wife waits in vain to hear the sound of that well known step. No more will his merry voice greet our ears. They have brushed back the dark curls from his manly brow. The cherished one has gone; but oh! not last forever. His spirit, free and untrammeled, still hovers around those he loved on earth, to comfort and strengthen their stricken hearts. He is waiting in glorious anticipation for the time to come when the hand of God shall join him with the loved ones of earth. It is true George now lies low in death;—the name so familiar shall it now be forgotten?—The accustomed presence of one in our midst, shall it cease to be remembered? Family and friends, those most dear now bereft of husband, son and brother, can forget?—Never but in fond recollections, clinging still, George will live. For why? oh! ask not, else in the human heart affection lingers not. Was he not a friend, was he not loved? Why, was he not brave? aye was he not a man, honest and true in word and deed? Thoughts pure as if of higher spheres, and actions governed thus will friend or foe find fault—Freely offered, he fell in a cause most just, and friends will mourn while surrounding patriots bear testimony to his worth

Yes, thou art dead, yet fond memory oft
Around thee lingers, George, forever dear;
O, would that those sweet accents kind and soft
Were [illegible] and with cheer.

LEWIS CARTER.

Raid of the Rebel Gunboats.

The New York Herald of Wednesday publishes from the Richmond Dispatch of Monday, the following Rebel telegrams from Charleston:—They should be read with a liberal allowance for the exaggeration of the rebel authors. We have no confirmation from Union forces, and would advise our readers to wait until our own accounts of the affairs reach the Department:

CHARLESTON, Jan. 31.—This morning the gunboats Palmetto State, Capt. Rutledge, and Chicora, Captain Tucker, accompanied by three small steamers—the General Clinch, Etiwan and Chesterfield—all under the command of Commodore Ingraham, made an attack on the blockaders, and succeeded in sinking two and crippling a third.

The engagement commenced at four o'clock.

The Palmetto State, with Commodore Ingraham on board, opened on the Federal gunboat Mercedita, carrying eleven guns and one hundred and fifty-eight men, which was soon sunk in five fathoms of water. Her commander, Captain Stellwagen, with a boat's crew, came on board and surrendered. One shot pierced her boiler, going clear through. Captain Stellwagen and crew were paroled by Commodore Ingraham.

Captain Tucker, of the Chicora, reports sinking another Federal gunboat and disabling of the steamship Quaker City. The latter was set on fire by the Chicora, and hauled down her flag to surrender, but afterwards managed to escape, using one wheel. She was very seriously injured.

The number of the blockading fleet outside at the time the attack was thirteen, with two first-class frigates, the Susquehanna and Canandaigua.—The Federal loss was very severe. It was a complete success on our part, with not a man hurt. Our gunboats were not even struck.

All the blockaders have disappeared. There is not one to be seen within five miles with the strongest kind of glasses. Our boats are now returning to Charleston.

The following is the official dispatch:

CHARLESTON, Feb. 1, 1863.—Headquarters Land and Naval Forces. Charleston, S. C., Jan. 31, 1863.—At about five o'clock this morning the Confederate States naval force on this station attacked the United States blockading fleet of the harbor of the city of Charleston, and sunk, dispersed or drove off and out of sight for the time the entire hostile fleet.

Therefore we, the undersigned, commanders respectively of the Confederate States naval and land forces in this quarter, do hereby formally declare the blockade by the United States of the city of Charleston, S. C., to be raised by a superior force of the Confederate States from and after the 31st day of January A. D. 1863.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Reports in regard to the encounter of Charleston harbor, being from rebel sources, are doubtless greatly exaggerated. There has been no interruption of the blockade, and no such assumption will be admitted by the Government.

Telegrams were received to-day from Fortress Monroe, stating that Gen. Dix is in receipt of rebel news from Charleston to the 30th inst., at which time the port was thoroughly blockaded. The Federal iron-clads are lying inside of the wooden walls. The former were not with the fleet at the time of the attack on the 1st inst. An attack upon the city was expected on the 3d.

A dispatch boat, with official accounts from Admiral Dupont, is hourly expected.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—The iron steamer Princess Royal, in charge of Acting Master Edward Van Sice, arrived off the navy yard to-day. She brings highly important intelligence, both as relates to her capture and the rebel attack on our blockading squadron at Charleston, showing conclusively that there is no foundation for the assumption of rebels that the blockade of Charleston was even raised by the departure of the U. S. fleet, only two vessels out of eight or ten having been disabled and obliged to leave.—It appears from the statement of intelligent eye-witnesses that the cause of this attack of the rebel rams or our squadron was owing to the capture of the Princess Royal, the captain and pilot of that vessel having escaped ashore during the darkness of the night, and communicated the intelligence to the enemy. The Princess Royal endeavored to run the blockade, by way of Breach Inlet, on the 29th, but was discovered by the pilot boat Blunt, and the signal being given, the Unadilla proceeded towards her, and captured the prize without any other assistance.

It was then discovered that the captain and pilot had succeeded in getting ashore by means of a small boat, carrying important dispatches to the rebel government. The Unadilla carried her to the side of the Housatonic and laid there till daylight, when the thunder of guns was heard, accompanied by sharp flashes of fire. It was supposed that our fleet was engaged in making captures, or the Alabama or Florida were endeavoring to force an entrance.

At daybreak two rebel iron clads were seen coming slowly from the direction of Stono Inlet towards our fleet. They attacked the Mercedita first, one ram struck her on the water's edge, keeling her over and at the same time firing a shot which entered one of her boilers, causing the death of three persons—including the gunner—by shot and steam.

The ram then hailed the Mercedita, and Capt. Stellwagen lowered one of his small boats, after leaving one of the plugs out, allowing the water to enter it. The ram answered our hail by replying "Confederate ram Palmetto State. Do you surrender?" This was repeated three times to Capt. Stellwagen, who at each inquiry replied; "I am in a sinking condition." The rebel answered: "God d——n you to h——l; if you don't surrender I will blow you out of the water—Send your boat aboard."

The boat which Capt. Stellwagen lowered, then contained his lieutenant and executive officer to the side of the rebel ram, and the officer asked to be admitted aboard. This was refused. The Lieutenant then repeated Capt. Stellwagen's statement that we were in a sinking condition. The rebel officer replied: "You can't sink lower than the rails; we cannot take you aboard." The officer then gave his parole, as demanded, and returned to his ship. The rebels were thus successfully deceived as to the condition of the Mercedita, and did not capture her, thinking she was in a sinking condition. She laid in shoal water, and hence their reply that she could not sink lower than her rails.

The ram then steamed towards the Keystone State and sent a shot through her steam drum, causing the death of twenty-one persons, twelve by shot and nine by being scalded by steam; fifteen of the wounded are lying at Port Royal, some in a precarious condition. In the meantime the U. S. gunboat Housatonic engaged the ram, driving her away. At six o'clock, p. m., both rams left the scene and proceeded up to Charleston.

During the day time our blockading fleet were not particular as to keeping their station, and on the day of this assault most of the vessels sailed toward the Keystone State to ascertain her condition, and whether she wanted any assistance. This may account for their apparent absence at the time of the visit of the Conshi, as mentioned by the rebel papers.

Our vessels, as usual, resumed their position at dark. The New Ironsides arrived the next day to reinforce the blockade.

The Princess Royal has aboard, besides a large amount of arms and ammunition, the complete machinery for the construction of an iron-clad steamers, and also, as a passenger, an intelligent English mechanic, who is well versed in the process of making and hardening projectiles.

Her value is variously estimated, but she is doubtless worth a million of dollars.

Her possession by the rebels would have been incalculable, and well worth the effort they made to obtain her by the attack on the blockading squadron.

Rest for the Reserves

At length our brave brothers, who from the remnant of the Pennsylvania Reserves, are to have rest. An order has been promulgated, to the effect that the Reserve Corps be withdrawn from the field, and placed on duty on the fortifications around Washington. However late this order comes, we still rejoice that it has at length been issued. Had a similar order been made six months ago—had the Reserves been allowed time to rest and recruit, even three months ago, and officers been detailed to visit Pennsylvania on recruiting service, every company of the Reserve Corps could have been filled with fresh levies, and the Corps thus brought up to its maximum strength. The State yearned to increase the glory of that gallant band by renewing its strength and again reviving its undaunted valor in adequate numbers to meet the foe. Propositions in every shape were made to secure this object and result, but each in turn were rejected as impracticable, until delay and death diminished the confidence and enthusiasm and thinned the ranks of what was once the most effective corps in the army.

At length, the Reserve Corps is to be relieved from duty. If it has already reached, it will shortly reach the entrenchments in the vicinity of Washington. But, alas how changed! Its swelling ranks no longer throbbing with ardor and strength. The proud host that went forth with banners streaming—that was hailed as the deliverers of a nation at the hour of its worst peril—will leave the field of its glorious action, no less proudly than when it first engaged the foe, but still broken down, shattered and weary of its great struggles. We trust that some notice of this retirement will be taken by the authorities of the State. We suggest that the Legislature do something in the premises, by which a resolution may be passed, recognizing the services and commending the valor of the Reserve Corps. The passage of such a resolution would reflect more credit upon the Legislature, than the discussion of a motion of censure on the federal government, for arresting a foul-mouthed, ill-reputed and desperate traitor.—Harr. Tel.

☞ A gentleman asked Dennis Doyle, who, some years ago, was a member of the old Tammany Hall Nominating Committee, and famous for his Irish wit, why they had sent, for the last two years, such a fool as Mr. —— to the Assembly?

"Why," said Dennis, "we send him on true republican principles."

"How so?" inquired his friend.

"Shure, you know," replied Dennis, "the Constitution says all classes are to be fairly represented, and faith, I think it we only send one fool out of thirteen members, to represent all the fools in New York, we hardly do them justice."

☞ A story is told of the revenge taken by a Nantucket shipmaster against a U. S. Consul, who was rarely to be found in his office, although upon his sign were the words, "from ten to one." The indignant captain, after trying to find the Consul several days without success, took a paint brush and altered the official's sign, so that it read "ten to one he is not in."

DIED—On Friday, February 6th, 1863, Mrs. DORCAS C. wife of James Allison, of Beaver C. H. Pa., aged 65 years.

Monthly Reports of County Superintendent.

NOVEMBER, 1862.

1. Four examinations, sixteen applicants examined.
2. Thirty-one Schools visited, one and one-third hours average duration of each visit.
3. One Institute attended.
4. Twenty one days devoted to official duty.
5. One hundred and thirty-seven miles traveled in discharge of official duty.
6. Twenty official letters written.

DECEMBER, 1862.

1. Four examinations held, four applicants examined.
2. Forty School visited, one and one half hours average duration of each visit.
3. Two Institutes attended, two lectures delivered.
4. Twenty four days devoted to official duty.
5. One hundred and twenty five miles traveled in discharge of official duty.
6. Nine official letters written.

JANUARY, 1863.

1. Four examinations held, four applicants examined.
2. Fifty two Schools visited, one and one half hours average duration of each visit.
3. Four Institutes attended, four lectures delivered.
4. Twenty-five days devoted to official duty.
5. One hundred and eighty two miles traveled in discarge of official duty.
6. Eight official letters written.

During the year thus far, three Union School buildings have been erected; one in Rochester, one in Beaver and one in Vanport. The two last named contain four school rooms each, and the latter, two school rooms.—They are all good buildings, and supplied with excellent furniture of the latest improved style. The aggregate cost of the three buildings is probably about $12,000.

Six school houses have been erected in the country districts; one in Brighton township, an excellent brick building; one in South Beaver township, one in Darlington township, one in Hopewell township, and two in Logstown independent district. The latter are all frame buildings and are good houses.

The provision of the present school law which prohibits teaching school on Saturdays, and requires that "two Saturdays in each school month, as the proper Directors may designate, be appropriated to exercises or recitations for the improvement of the teachers," has generally been complied with. The form of conducting these exercises generally adopted is to appoint one teacher for each branch who is to hear the recitation on the Saturday for which he is appointed at each meeting; lessons are assigned which will require actual study, and the recitations are conducted so as to make them a thorough drill on the particular branch recited. The exercises are very generally the same as in common schools. In this way our teachers cannot fail to be benefitted, and through them our schools improved. We have Institutes in operation that are more beneficial to teachers than a term at school would be; and the effect upon the schools taught; by the members is very visible. This provision of the law, which makes it obligatory on the Directors to designate the Saturdays, and the teachers to attend the meetings is really producing good fruits and will continue to do so, just in proportion as the spirit of the law is carried out.

Every teacher who desires to do his duty will attend, as a matter of course, so that he may thus comply with the law, and become better prepared to discharge his duties in the school room.

MARRIAGE.

ITS loves and hates, sorrows and angers, hopes and fears, regrets and joys; MANHOOD, how lost, how restored; the nature, treatment and radical cure of spermatorrhœa or seminal weakness, involuntary emissions, sexual debility and impediments to marriage generally; nervousness, consumption, fits, mental and physical incapacity, resulting from SELF-ABUSE—are fully explained in the MARRIAGE GUIDE, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This most extraordinary book should be in the hands of every young person contemplating marriage, and every man or woman who desires to limit the number of their offspring to their circumstances. Every pain, disease and ache incidental to youth, maturity and old age, is fully explained; every particle of knowledge that should be known is here given. It is full of engravings. In fact, it discloses secrets that every one should know; still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of twenty-five cents in specie or postage stamps.

Address Dr. Wm. YOUNG, 416 Spruce st., above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ Afflicted and Unfortunate, no matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under the care of any of the notorious QUACKS—native or foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's book, and read it carefully. It will be the means of saving you many a dollar, your health, and possibly your life.

Dr. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publication, at his office, 416 Spruce Street, above Fourth, Philadelphia. Office hours from 9 to 3, daily. [mar26

NOW.

ARE DR. HURD'S PREPARATIONS GOOD

The best evidences that they are is that their firmest friends and best patrons are those who have used them longest. Dr. Wm. B. Hurd is an eminent Dentist of Brooklyn, Treasurer of the New York State Dentists' Association, and these preparations have been used in his private practice for years, and no leading citizen of Brooklyn or Williamsburg questions their excellence, while eminent Dentists of New York recommend them as the best known to the profession. Without the aid of advertising, dealers have sold them by the gross.

The Editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times says: "We are happy to know that our friend, Dr. Hurd, is succeeding beyond all expectations with his MOUTH WASH and TOOTH POWDER. The great secret of his success rests with the fact that his articles are precisely what they are represented to be, as we can testify from their long use."

The well known P. T. Barnum writes: "I found your TOOTH POWDER so good that my family have used it all up. We find it the best powder for the teeth we have ever used. I shall feel obliged if you will send me another supply at the Museum at your convenience, with bill."

But their cost is so small that every one may test the matter for himself.

☞ Beware of the ordinary Tooth Powders. Dr. Hurd's Tooth Pooder contains no acids, nor alkali, nor charcoal, and polishes without wearing the enamel. Use no other.

WHAT WILL DR. HURD'S REMEDIES EFFECT?

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will give young ladies that finest charm in woman—a sweet breath and pearly teeth. Try them, ladies.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will cleanse the mouth from all foul exhalations, and if used in the morning, will make the breakfast taste sweeter and the day begin more pleasantly. Hundreds of persons can testify to this. Try them, gentlemen.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder are the the best preparations in the world for curing bad breath and giving firmness and health to the gums. Hundreds of cases of Diseased Bleeding Gums, Sore Mouth, Canker, etc., have been cured by Dr. Hurd's astringent wash.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder give an additional charm to courtship, and make husbands more agreeable to their wives and wives to their husbands. They should be used by every person having which are liable to impart a taint to the mouth.

Dr. Hurd's Toothache Drops cure Toothache arising from exposed nerves, and are the best friends that parents can have in the house to save their children from torture and themselves from loss of sleep and sympathetic suffering.

Farmers and mechanics! you cannot well afford to neglect your teeth. For a trifling sume you can now get preservatives, than which Rothschild or Astor can get nothing better. Remember that Dyspepsia and Consumption of the Lungs often originate in neglect of Teeth. Send for the Treatise on Teeth, and read Dr. Fitch's observations on this subject. If too late to arrest decay in your own teeth, save your children's teeth.

NEURALGIA PLASTERS.—Dr. Hurd's Neuralgia Non-Adhesive Plasters are the most pleasant and successful remedies ever prescribed for this painful disease. The patient applies one, soon becomes drowsy, falls asleep, and awakes free from pain, and no blister or other unpleasant or injurious consequences ensue. For Earache and Nervous Headache, apply according to directions, and relief will surely follow. Nothing can be obtained equal to Dr. Hurd's Compress for Neuralgia. Try them. They are entirely a novel, curious and original preparation, and wonderfully successful. They are of two sizes, one small, for the face, price 15 cents, and the other large, for application to the body, price 37 cents. Will be mailed on receipt of price and one stamp.

WHAT ARE THE PEOPLE DOING?—The American people are intelligent enough to appreciate preparations that contribute so much to happiness of those using them, and they wont them. Every mail brings us letters, some ordering the Treatise on Teeth, some the Neuralgia Plasters, and not a few enclosing 37 cts. for the Mouth Wash, to be sent by mail; but to these we are compelled to reply that it is impossible to send a half-pint bottle by mail. The people want these Remedies. Who will supply them?

Now is the CHANCE FOR AGENTS.

Shrewd agents can make a small fortune in carrying these articles around to families. The Dental Treasury is the neatest article that a man or woman can carry around. Send for one and see, or, better, a dozen, which we will sell, as samples, for $7. Agents supplied liberally with circulars. ☞ Now is the time to to go into the business, to do good, and make a profit. We are spending thousands for the benefit of agents. New England men or women! here is something nice, and a chance to take the tide at its flood. Address,

WM. B. HURD & CO.,
Tribune Buildings, New York.

That remittances may be made with confidence, W. B. H. & Co., refer to the Mayor of Brooklyn; to G. W. Griffith, President Farm'rs and Citizens Bank, Brooklyn; to Joy, Coe, Co., New York; [illegible]

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES OF THE BRAVE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS:

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS And Ointment.

ALL WHO have Friends and Relatives in the Army or Navy, should take especial care that they be amply supplied with these Pills and Ointment; and where the brave Soldiers and Sailors have neglected to provide themselves with them, no better present can be sent them by their friends. They have been proved to be the Soldier's never-failing friend in the hour of need.

COUGHS AND COLDS AFFECTING TROOPS

Will be speedily removed and effectually cured by using these admirable medicines, and by paying proper attention to the Directions which are attached to each Pot or Box.

SICK HEADACHES AND WANT OF APPETITE INCIDENTAL TO SOLDIERS.

These feelings which so sadden us, usually arise from trouble or annoyances, obstructed perspiration, or eating and drinking what is unwholesome, thus disturbing the healthful action of the liver and stomach. These organs must be relieved, if you desire to be well. The Pills, taking according to the printed instructions, will quickly a produce a healthy action in both liver and stomach, and as a natural consequence a clear head, and good appetite.

WEAKNESS OR DEBILITY INDUCED BY OVER FATIGUE.

Will soon disappear by the use of these invaluable Pills, and the Soldier will quick

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

DR CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

THE combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, fatigue, hysterics, pain in the back and limbs, etc., disturbed sleep, which arise from interruption of nature.

Dr. Cheeseman's Pills

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many to a PREMATURE GRAVE. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular, and whenever an obstruction takes place the jeneral health begins to decline.

Dr. Cheeseman's Pills

are the most effectual remedy known for all complaints peculiar to Females. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing, with certainty, periodical regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent Physicians in America.

Explicit directions, stating when they should not be used, with each Box—the Price One Dollar per Box, containing from 50 to 60 Pills.

Pills sent by mail, promptly, by remitting to, the Proprietor. Dr. Smith of Bridgewater, sole agent for this County.

R. B. HUTCHINGS, Proprietor.
